

450 STORAGE - OPEN

This category group consists of noncovered storage areas, paved or other wise established, for storage of General Supply Materials. Several of the excluded types of functions include miscellaneous materials coded under other basic category codes, i.e., ammunition on open pad, coded under 425 10; and open storage areas for nonsupply oriented functions, coded under 852 35 and 40 and any other areas not assigned to the Supply/Material Department.

451 10 OPEN STORAGE AREA (SY)

Determination of space allowances for aircraft and personnel can be computed by using the guidance given in "Storage and Warehouse Planning Guidelines" on page 440-2, and Tables 440B-1 and 440B-2. Space allowances based on historical/planned M/Ts of material in store/to--be-stored can be developed from these tables.

In those areas where it is impractical to use open storage because of weather (e.g., arctic region), storage requirements may be included under Category Group 440.

451 10 OPEN STORAGE AREA (SY)

Determination of space allowances for aircraft and personnel can be computed by using the guidance given under the Base Loading Method on page 440-6 and Table 451-1 and 451-2 below. Space allowances based on historical/planned M/T's of material in store/to-be-stored can be developed from Table 440-4 using the guidance provided by the Modified Measurement Ton Method on page 440-14.

In those areas where it is impractical to use open storage because of weather (e.g., arctic region), storage requirements may be included under Category Group 440.
